Changes to the Workday User Experience: September 12, 2015
The Tab bar and the Sub-tab bar are now separated:
Empty fields display a different looking drop-down menu when clicked...

...and look different when populated

For more information about the process of changing jobs.

Workers by Supervisory Organization
Workers by Location
The same aesthetic changes that were made to business process fields were made to reporting fields.
The funnel that is used to filter report data looks different

Once you click the filter, there are now new filter set-up screens...

...where you can set filter conditions
